Recommendation on NC. 161 of the Persian Nationals Committee regarding the Evacuation carried out by Germans —

Serial No.

Recommendation No.161 of the Prison Reforms Committee.

In para 9 of Chapter VII of their Report, the Prison Reforms Committee recommended that the gratuity earned by a prisoner should be the prisoner's own property and should not be liable to be forfeited as a Jail punishment.

The Inspector General of Prisons states that the suggestion may be adopted and a rule to the effect framed.

No new rule, however, seems to be necessary as suggested. Even now the gratuity earned by a prisoner cannot be forfeited under the Jail Manual rules if he commits any prison offence. The punishments which may be awarded for a prison offence under Rule 278 in respect of the remission system are:-

a) Forfeiture of remission earned;

b) Temporary forfeiture of class, grade or prison privileges.

c) Temporary or permanent reduction from a higher to a lower class or grade;

d) Temporary or permanent exclusion from the remission system.

Gratuity already earned by a prisoner cannot therefore be forfeited under this rule nor is there any other other rule in the Jail Manual which empowered the Superintendent to do so. The Indian Jails Committee also recommended that the gratuity earned by a prisoner should be his own property and should not be liable to forfeiture as a Jail punishment. No positive rule to this effect has however been incorporated in the prison manuals of the provinces.
